Dear parents,

I hope you're all keeping well and have enjoyed the summer holidays.

My name is Paul Collins-Smith and I'm writing to introduce myself as the newly appointed Catholic Senior Executive Lead of Lumen Christi Multi Academy, replacing Clare Madden who retired in August.

I feel truly excited to have the opportunity of leading this dynamic family of Catholic schools through the next phase of Lumen Christi's development. I intend to build further upon the success already achieved within our schools, and will work tirelessly to support our Principals in continuing to provide your child with a rich, rewarding and highly successful Catholic educational experience.

As a Catholic Multi Academy company, Lumen Christi works collectively to serve our school communities, families, staff and volunteers. Above all, we aim to make certain all our children and young people have the very best opportunities that a high quality, first-class Catholic education can provide.

Together, we help each other to become stronger in our faith. Our schools, our families and our local parishes work together to make sure the Catholic identity of our Multi Academy is a lived reality, following the example of Jesus Christ.

I look forward to meeting you over the next few weeks and months at the school gates, or at the variety of school events that will be taking place this term.

Regards and blessings

Paul Collins-Smith
